

Conclusion

1. How can you put into practice "heralding" that people are loved by God and can have a relationship with Him regardless of their background and situation?
2. Who is someone you know who has ever expressed that they wouldn't "fit in" if they came with you to church or your small group? How can you encourage them to come "just as they are"?

Grace Group Homework

s.C.H.o.o.l Herald

For the Week of September 25, 2011

Review

1. What were the first two weeks of this series about(S&C)? How do they relate and tie into this week's message(H)?
  2. What would you say was the most important part/point of this week's message?
  3. How would you share this message with a neighbor or friend?
  4. When we are baptized we are sharing that experience with people from all walks of life, culturally and racially different backgrounds and economically different experiences. How does that reality help us understand what James is saying about being a part of the Christian community?
  5. Why is what James is teaching here about Christian community something we would want to "herald" to the world around us?
  6. Read Ephesians 2:8-9. Why is this idea so hard for people to sometimes accept?
- Digging Deeper
1. How is the baptism of Jesus different from the baptism of John(passage from Matthew 3:1-17)
